Help Us Celebrate Black History Month

We want to kick off the start of this month with the origin story of Black History Month. Dr. Carter G. Woodson, known as the “Father of Black History,” was frustrated by the lack of awareness and celebration of the African American community’s accomplishments so he sought a way to celebrate. Dr. Woodson chose February because that was when Abraham Lincoln and Frederick Douglass’s birthdays were. Then, in the late 1960s, colleges expanded the week to Black History Month. In 1976, more than 25 years after Dr. Woodson’s hard work and advocacy began, President Gerald Ford recognized Black History Month as a national observance. Now every year, there is a Black History Month theme put in place to celebrate the month. This year the theme is “A Century of Black History Commemorations”.

Dual Enrollment – Act Now!

If you are interested in Dual Enrollment for the 2026-2027 School Year, please start the process NOW if you have not already done so. Visit our DE website – <http://bit.ly/DEPopePage> to download our checklist and access important information. Students and a family member must view the mandatory DE video presentation (or have attended the live fall meeting) as the first step and then follow the remaining steps on the checklist, which include applying to the desired college and meeting with your counselor to complete paperwork. (Georgia Tech applicants MUST also follow these steps and meet our deadlines, however, they will complete the GT application later when it opens in mid-May). The deadline for students wanting to take summer DE classes was February 1st and the deadline for those who wish to take DE classes starting in the Fall is March 6th. County and college deadlines may differ from these dates, but Pope sets earlier deadlines for scheduling purposes, in addition to helping ensure students are able to register for their college classes at the earliest possible enrollment opportunity. If you have any questions, reach out to your counselor.
